Description:

New-bio spider-bear hybrid. Spinnerettes are on it's back between the shoulder blades. It can aim and shoot webbing. They have four legs like a bear, but the head has eight eyes giving them almost 360 degree awareness.

Hatchlings a few weeks old are the size of a full grown grizzly, adults typically grow to be larger than an earth polar bear.

Females spin black webs and males spin white webs.

Earned the name 'Blood-bear' because of the havoc they cause when they attack.

Adults are almost always solitary, young ones travel in packs of 3-5.
